Stanford Contributory Retirement Plan (SCRP) CRA Age 59-1/2 One-Time In-Service Withdrawal Distribution Calculation Request

The SCRP allows you to make a one-time in-service withdrawal of a portion of your contributions to your Contributory Retirement Account (CRA) at age 59-1/2 or later.

Process

- Complete this form to request a calculation of the CRA amount available for withdrawal (the "available CRA amount")
- Send the completed form to Stanford Benefits either by fax or email and they will acknowledge receipt of your request via email.
- It can take up to 30 days to calculate your available CRA amount. A request can only be made every three months; if you request a new calculation, it will invalidate any prior calculations.
- Once you have your calculation, complete the Fidelity/TIAA withdrawal forms with the desired distribution amount (not to exceed your available CRA amount) and obtain spousal consent, if applicable. Return the forms to Stanford Benefits via email, fax or mail for review and approval.
- Stanford Benefits will contact Fidelity/TIAA to process your approved withdrawal forms and complete your distribution.

Stanford Benefits - Fax: 650-723-7669 or Email: scrpdistributions@stanford.edu

About the Calculation

- This withdrawal is limited to a portion of your employee contributions, plus related earnings.
- The calculation of your available CRA amount is intended to let you take a one-time withdrawal of your own contributions above the approximate amount that you had to contribute to the CRA in order to receive the university's maximum matching contribution, assuming that you deferred at least 4% each year to receive the university's 5% matching contribution. See the calculation example in the Frequently Asked Questions on page 2.
- The calculation of your available CRA amount is based on the value of your account (including amounts invested with both Fidelity and TIAA) as of the first business day of the month in which Stanford receives this request. Note that any distribution amount is subject to any applicable TIAA contract restrictions.

Frequently Asked Questions

What is the purpose of the one-time in-service withdrawal?

This withdrawal is intended to enable you to take a one-time distribution of your own contributions above the approximate amount you had to contribute to the CRA in order to receive the university's maximum matching contributions, assuming that you deferred at least 4% each year to receive the university's 5% matching contribution. This age 59-1/2 withdrawal is in addition to the SCRP's other age 59-1/2 withdrawal options.

How does Stanford calculate how much I may withdraw from my CRA (my "available CRA amount")?

Your available CRA amount is calculated by first determining the dollar amount equal to 80% of your CRA matching contributions (plus earnings). This dollar amount represents how much of your employee contributions (plus earnings) must remain in your CRA, and your available CRA amount is the amount of your CRA employee contributions (plus earnings) in excess of this dollar amount. (Your matching contributions must remain in your CRA as well.)

Example:

Form received February 15, 2020. Account valued as of February 3. CRA pre-tax and after-tax employee contributions $200,000 CRA matching contributions $50,000

- (1) Amount of employee contributions equal to 80% of the matching contributions $($50,000 \times .80 = $40,000)$ must remain in CRA account.
- (2) The amount from (1) is deducted from the employee contribution balance ($200,000 $40,000 = $160,000).

Available CRA Amount for One-Time In-Service Withdrawal: $160,000

What is the valuation day used to calculate what is available for withdrawal?

The calculation is based on the value of your CRA as of the first business day of the month in which Stanford receives the distribution calculation request form. For example, if Stanford receives your request on February 20, 2020, your CRA will be valued as of February 3, which is the first business day of the month.

How often can I ask for this CRA calculation if I want my account valued on a different date?

You are allowed to request a CRA calculation once every three months. If you request a new calculation, the available withdrawal amount from the previous calculation will be voided.

Why is it called a "one-time" in-service withdrawal?

Once you have received a CRA age 59-1/2 one-time in-service withdrawal, you can only take another in-service withdrawal from your CRA funds if (1) you have a financial hardship under SCRP rules, (2) you work for the university in position that is 50% time or less, non-tenured or fixed term, or (3) you qualify for a qualified reservist distribution. The "one-time" in-service withdrawal applies to your CRA account regardless where it is invested, meaning you cannot request two CRA "one-time" in-service withdrawals because your CRA account is invested at both Fidelity and TIAA. Note that distributions are subject to state and federal income tax and applicable TIAA contract restrictions.

What if I need access to my CRA funds after I've taken my one-time in-service withdrawal?

Because it is a one-time withdrawal, you should consider your distribution amount carefully. If you think you will need to access your CRA funds at a later date, you may consider requesting a distribution of your entire available CRA amount and making a rollover contribution to an individual retirement account (IRA). You would have access to your IRA funds at any time, and you would pay taxes when funds are withdrawn from the IRA. Stanford does not encourage you to withdraw your entire CRA from the SCRP because of the many benefits that are part of the SCRP, such as low-cost investment options and plan loans. However, you can always rollover your IRA back into a TDA account within the SCRP if you wish to put the money back in the SCRP at a later date. Note that you cannot directly transfer amounts from your CRA into a TDA account because rollover distributions (and related tax distribution forms) are required. You are encouraged to consult your tax advisor with respect to distributions from the SCRP, as there may be additional fees associated with opening and/or closing an IRA.

What is the difference between the current CRA age 59-1/2 in-service withdrawal and the new one-time in-service withdrawal?

	Current CRA In-Service Withdrawal	New One-Time In-Service Withdrawal
Eligibility	Employees must be age 59-1/2 or older and work 50% or less in a non-tenured position or in a fixed-term position for the university	Employees must be age 59-1/2 or older
Frequency of withdrawals	Unlimited	One time
Amount of withdrawal	Entire CRA account balance	Calculated portion of CRA employee contributions and related earnings

Distribution—Cash

Use this form to request a one-time cash distribution from your 401(a), 401(k), 403(b), or 457(b) governmental employer plan. Fill in by hand using CAPITAL letters and black ink, or on screen (if PDF). If you need more room for information, use a copy of the relevant page.

Helpful To Know

- You can only take a distribution if you meet one of the criteria for eligibility (see Section 3). If you are a beneficiary or qualified alternate payee, call Fidelity instead of using this form.
- Workplace retirement plan distributions may have tax consequences. You may want to consult a tax or financial professional.
- To get your plan number(s), call your plan sponsor (the employer that provides the plan) or go to mysavingsatwork.com.
- To validate your profile, go to netbenefits.com/profile.
 To change your address, call your plan sponsor or go to netbenefits.com/profile.

- For most other types of distributions (such as recurring, hardship, or rollover) find the appropriate forms at fidelity.com/atwork.
- Non-resident aliens must provide IRS form W-8BEN and a U.S. taxpayer ID number to claim any tax treaty benefits.
- Before you submit this form, be sure to find out whether your plan requires plan sponsor approval of distribution requests. If your plan does, and there is no plan sponsor signature in Section 9, your request will be denied.
