Filing taxes for your restricted stock, restricted stock units, or performance awards

There are two moments when your equity award can be taxed—when your award vests and when you sell the stock. When your award vests, you may have taxable ordinary income to report on your tax return. When you sell your stock, you may have capital gains or losses to report. This guide will help you understand which documents are needed and how they're used when you, or your tax advisor, file your taxes.

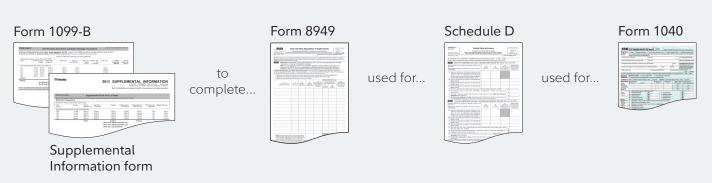

Gather the following documents

In order to accurately file your taxes, there are several documents and forms you may need. Some will be provided by your employer and others will come from Fidelity or the IRS. Below is a list of potentially important documents and where to get them. Make sure you have all of the applicable forms prior to filing your taxes.

Log in to Fidelity.com/taxforms to see what forms you'll receive and when you'll get them.

Form	Why it's needed	Where to find it
Form W-2 (or 1099-NEC if you are a nonemployee)	Your W-2 (or 1099-NEC) includes the taxable income from your award. Form W-2 shows the taxes that have been withheld.	This form is provided by your employer.
Form 1099-B	This IRS form has details about your stock sale and helps you calculate any capital gain/loss.	Available online at Fidelity.com/taxforms and also mailed to you. You can find out when you'll receive them online.
2023 Supplemental Information	The Supplemental Information form, created by Fidelity, may contain information not reported on your 1099-B due to IRS regulations.
IRS Form 8949	These IRS forms are used to report taxes for stock sales from your equity	Available online at www.irs.gov ,* by calling 800.TAX.FORM (800.829.3676), or by visiting your local IRS office.
IRS Schedule D and Form 1040	award.

What to know when your award has vested

Congratulations on receiving your award. There are two key pieces of information you should keep in mind, now that your award has vested:

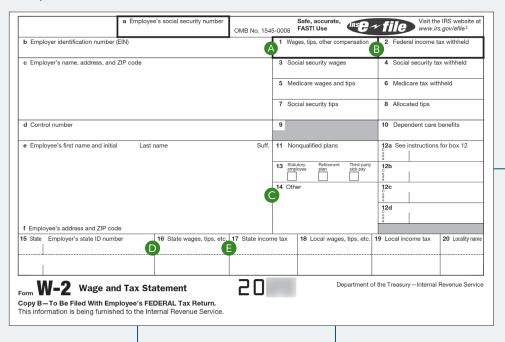

- Equity compensation is considered ordinary income.
- It is taxable in the year your award vests and/or shares are delivered to you.*

When your award is vested or distributed, your employer will withhold ordinary income and FICA[†] taxes.

- The tax amounts, along with the income from the value of your shares, may be included on your W-2.
- If you're a nonemployee (such as a contractor, consultant, or director), you'll find the income on your Form 1099-NEC.
- The information on your W-2 (or 1099-NEC) is used to fill out tax form 1040.

What to do when you've sold stock

When you sell shares of stock, you need to separately report any gain or loss from the sale. Remember: you already paid taxes when your award vested. Accurately reporting your gain or loss will help keep you from overpaying taxes.

A capital gain/loss is the difference between your sale price and your cost basis.

- If you sell stock for more than its value at vesting, you realize a gain.
- If you sell it for less than its value at vesting, it's considered a loss.
- How much of that gain or loss you report depends on your cost basis.

Your capital gain/loss and cost basis information are located on the 1099-B and Supplemental Information form. If your 1099-B shows $0 for your cost basis, you'll want to review the adjusted cost basis on your Supplemental Information form to help prevent overpaying taxes. The details from these forms are used to calculate your capital gain or loss on IRS Forms 8949, 1040, and Schedule D.

IMPORTANT

Make sure you have both your 1099-B and Supplemental Information form when reporting your gain or loss.

The information on your 1099-B is reported to the IRS, but the Supplemental Information form includes adjustments necessary to avoid overpaying taxes. You'll want to use the information on the Supplemental Information form to make any necessary adjustments on Form 8949. To learn more about how your gain/loss is calculated, see how cost basis factors into the equation.

SHORT-TERM VS. LONG-TERM SALE

As you prepare your taxes, you'll want to consider if you made a short-term sale or long-term sale. Capital gains are taxed differently depending on how long you've held the shares.

A short-term sale applies if you held your shares at vesting and sold them at one year or less.* A short-term sale is taxed at ordinary income rates.

A long-term sale applies if you held your shares at vesting and sold them after one year.* Long-term gains are taxed at lower rates than ordinary income.

To determine if you had a short-term or long-term sale, refer to Form 1099-B. When you file your taxes, this information will help you know which version (short-term or long-term) of Schedule D and Form 8949 to use.

Using Form 1099-B and the Supplemental Information form

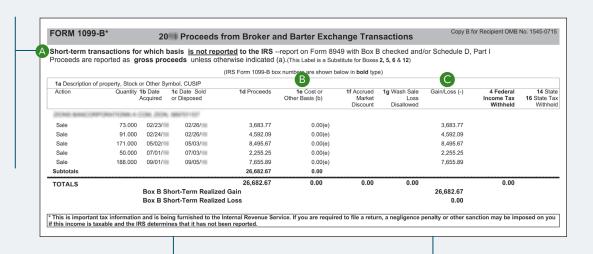

If you sold stock, you'll receive Form 1099-B and the Supplemental Information form during the tax season. The information on your 1099-B is reported to the IRS, but the Supplemental Information form includes adjustments to a capital gain or loss necessary to avoid overpaying taxes. It's important that you review and utilize the Supplemental Information form, as the information on it is not reported to the IRS. Below are sample forms, along with key pieces of information you'll find.

HOW IS A SALE REFLECTED ON FORM 1099-B?

Sample Form 1099-B

SHORT-TERM OR LONG-TERM TRANSACTION (A)

This is where you'll see if you had a short-term or long-term transaction. It will help determine which version of Schedule D and Form 8949 you need.

COST OR OTHER BASIS B

- This is provided to the IRS and may need to be adjusted when you report the sale on Form 8949. If adjusted, you'll find that value on the Supplemental Information form.
- If this is $0,* reference your Supplemental Information form for the adjusted amount. This will help you avoid overpaying taxes.

GAIN/LOSS

• Capital gain or loss from the sale of shares. This amount may also need to be adjusted. In that case, you'll find that value on the Supplemental Information form.

For illustrative purposes only.

^{*}Often your cost basis will show as $0 on your 1099-B. The IRS rules prohibit brokers from reporting the full basis for this type of compensation.

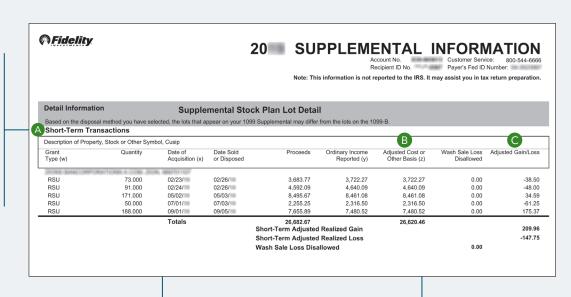

Using Form 1099-B and the Supplemental Information form... continued

HOW IS A SALE REFLECTED ON THE SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION FORM?

Sample Supplemental Information Form

SHORT-TERM OR LONG-TERM TRANSACTION

This is where you'll see if you had a short-term or long-term transaction. It will help determine which version of Schedule D and Form 8949 you need.

ADJUSTED COST BASIS B

- This amount is used to recalculate your gain/loss. It's equal to the ordinary income at vesting plus the cost basis on your 1099-B.
- You'll want to use the adjusted amount to calculate your cost basis on Form 8949 to avoid paying those taxes again.*

ADJUSTED GAIN/LOSS ©

- This amount is recalculated based on your adjusted cost basis. It shows your proceeds minus your adjusted cost basis.
- This amount and the adjusted cost basis are not reported to the IRS. You'll want to understand this information when reporting your taxes to avoid paying more than necessary.

^{*}When your award vests, you pay income taxes via withholding, and this income and the taxes are part of the totals on your W-2. When you sell the shares, the IRS needs to know that you already recognized that income and paid income taxes on it. The adjusted amounts inform the IRS that you already paid taxes on the income and don't need to pay them again.

Submitting the information to the IRS

Now that you've gathered the information necessary to file your taxes, how do you submit it to the IRS?

There are many ways to file your taxes: self-filing, using a tax-filing service, or with a tax advisor. Many tax-filing services and programs allow you to automatically transfer information from Fidelity. Please note, however, this is not the case with the Supplemental Information form, and you will need to manually enter it.

When filing, the information you gathered will be used to report your taxes using IRS Form 1040 (for the compensation income) and Schedule D and Form 8949 (for the stock sale). If you need assistance with these forms, more information can be found in the links below.
